FIRE POLICE ARE TO REPORT FIRES THAT DON'T LOOK RIGHT

Two Fires of Mysterious Origin Still Remain Unsolved, It is Reported

IN NEW HOPE AREA

Nearly 200 Attend Meeting Held at Southampton Wednesday Night

SOUTHAMPTON, Jan. 20—Nearly 200 Bucks County fire policemen, Wednesday evening, were urged by Detective William L. Stackhouse, "to report any fire that doesn't look right."

It was stated there were two fires in the New Hope area still unsolved but their origin are too mysterious to dismiss them.

Speaking to fire police, representing 31 companies, Detective Stackhouse said: "We are going into a period when we will have more fires. Business is changing, slowing down, and insurance was rightfully raised. It is all the more important for the firemen and fire police to try to find out the exact cause of every fire and if it doesn't look right, call it to the attention of the proper authorities."

Detective Stackhouse, who said the two barn fires—one at Holicong and one at Lahaska—happened too close together for the safety of the Buckingham-Solebury communities, also pointed out the second fire in the New Hope beauty shop couldn't possibly have been the same fire as the initial midnight blaze.

With a Langhorne fire policeman, now in Abington Hospital, suffering from injuries, including a fracture of the kneecap suffered during a grass fire Stackhouse again cautioned the fire police to encourage safety and keep paramount in their minds the safety of the men.

A Langhorne fire policeman reported how two firemen narrowly escaped serious injuries when one jumped off the engine too soon and "rolled along the ground" throwing another one who stumbled over the one rolling about. Both fortunately sprawled away from the path of the fire engine.

Robert F. Brenner, Eddington fire policeman, reported arrests of two Philadelphia motorists who violated fire engine laws. One followed the engine so closely that when the fire apparatus halted the car stopped five inches from it. "If that driver hadn't been able to stop his car four firemen's legs might have been broken," said Brenner. Another motorist passed the fire engine twice on the way to a fire.

Methodists Are To Raise Money for New Sunday School Building

PLEDGE CARDS OUT

MORRISVILLE, Jan. 20—Letters and pledge cards have been distributed among members of Grace Methodist Church, here, in preparation for the drive to finance a new Sunday School building.

About 450 families of the church have received letters explaining the drive. They are being asked to return pledge cards by April 1.

The new Sunday School building, which is expected to be built in the rear of the present house now used for primary instruction, will cost about $45,000. Already $8,000 is available in the Sunday School building fund. The amount received by April 1st will determine how far the committee can go with the new building.

Charles Metz Jr., chairman of the building committee, and William E. Gentry Sr., chairman of the fund raising committee, announce that a meeting of the official board will be held on Friday night at eight o'clock at the church. Assignments will be made to members to collect the pledge cards. These cards or cash will be accepted by the collectors, or church members may take them to any service. The solicitation will be only among members, and families who are not members but have children attending Sunday School.

WORST EPIDEMIC OF "POLIO" COST MUCH

Aid Funds of National Foundation Wiped Out by The 1949 New Cases

CASES WIDE - SPREAD

Unprecedented costs of last year's worst infantile paralysis epidemic in history were disclosed today, as Bucks County responded generously to the urgent appeal of the 1950 March of Dimes. The drive opened on January 16 and will continue through January 31.

William Rawak, chairman of the Bucks County Chapter, said that medical care costs alone in 1949 totalled more than $31,000,000 in March of Dimes funds, and continued care for thousands of these victims during 1950 will come to another $20,000,000.

"Epidemic aid funds of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis were wiped out by last year's toll of new cases," he continued. "We do not know what this year will bring, but we must be prepared for any eventuality. No victim of this disease will be denied necessary medical care for lack of money. Only our dimes and dollars in unprecedented amounts will assure this."

Half the funds contributed during the March of Dimes remain with the local chapter, Mr. Rawak said. This money is used to help pay for that part of medical care which a patient's family cannot

PLANS BEING DEVELOPED TO DREDGE DEEPER CHANNEL IN RIVER, DUE TO STEEL PLANT AT MORRISVILLE

By International News Service

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 20—Plans are being developed to dredge a deepwater channel in the Delaware River from Philadelphia to Trenton, N. J.

State Secretary of Commerce Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., 3rd, made the announcement yesterday at the Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting in Philadelphia. He declared:

"The announcement that the United States Steel Corp. has acquired a site in the Morrisville section with seven and one-half miles of frontage on the Delaware presages the greatest boom this port has ever experienced."

Roosevelt said the steel company plans to smelt steel from ore at the proposed plant and also to provide facilities for the processing of the metal into manufactured products.

Roosevelt said that a port authority bill is under preparation for submission to the next session of the legislature to provide adequate promotion of the port.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

A change in this country's policy toward Spain was announced by Secretary Acheson yesterday. He informed Congressional leaders that we would support a United Nations resolution lifting the ban on normal diplomatic relations with the Franco regime. Meanwhile, Mr. Acheson said, this country is "quite prepared" to make sound economic loans to Spain.

Bulgaria has demanded the immediate recall of United States Minister Heath. Unless Sofia reconsiders, it was said, we will break diplomatic relations.

The Administration suffered its first major defeat on foreign affairs when a coalition of House Republicans, bitter against our China policy, and economy-minded Southern Democrats voted down, 193 to 191, a $60,000,000 bill for economic aid to Korea.

Soviet representatives walked out of United Nations talks on international control of atomic energy, the United Nations Military Staff Committee and the Far Eastern Commission in protest against the continued presence of the Chinese Nationalists.

A Kremlin refusal to assure the United States, Britain and France that Austrian treaty talks would be speeded elicited a Washington hint these powers might act independently.

Finland was warned by the Soviet Government newspaper Izvestia that failure to comply with her treaties could prove "disastrous."

A threat to curb interzonal rail traffic in Germany in retaliation for Western seizure of a Soviet-occupied building in Berlin was implied. In Frankfort, Chancellor Adenauer indicated that Western Germany might not join the Council of Europe if the Saar-France link was not changed.

Premier de Gasperi announced a ten-year program to develop southern Italy and other depressed areas.

Internationalization of Jerusalem was condemned as "dangerous and unnecessary" by a mission of six United States Christian leaders. A United Nations commission "with no territorial sovereignty" was suggested to implement guarantees by Israel and Jordan of "free accessibility" to shrines.

The Senate, 45 to 35, killed a Republican move to consider excise tax cuts before President Truman's tax message is received Monday.

House leaders assured the President they could defeat a move to re-

BRIDGETOWN MILL PROPERTY, OCCUPIED BY PLASTICS MANUFACTURING FIRM, GUTTED BY FLAMES; FIREMEN REMAIN AT SITE OF BUCKS CO. LANDMARK 8 HOURS

Structure on Woodman Estate Was Originally Built As A Grist Mill—During Irish Famine, Grain Was Ground There for Shipment Abroad — Low Temperature Freezes Water As It Strikes Ladders and Ground, Making Task Difficult for Firemen.

BRIDGETOWN, Jan. 20—One of Bucks County's old landmarks fell prey to flames here last evening at 8.30, when the stone mill on the grounds of the Benjamin Woodman estate, leased to Pearson-Berlinghof, Inc., was gutted.

Loss on the stone structure, three stories plus basement in height, is undetermined.

Firemen from Langhorne, Newtown and Parkland; also members of the Second Alarmers' Association of Willow Grove, and the Bucks County Rescue Squad of Croydon, remained on the scene for several hours. The last piece of fire-fighting equipment rolled away from the scene at five o'clock this morning, some firemen remaining during the early morning hours to make certain flames did not again break out. The blaze was gotten under control at one a. m.

Due to intenseness of heat and also to the gases emanating from the plastics, firemen were unable to fight the flames from inside the building. They were further hampered in their battle by the low temperature, with water from the lines freezing as soon as it struck the ladders and ground. This made footing difficult for those battling the fire.

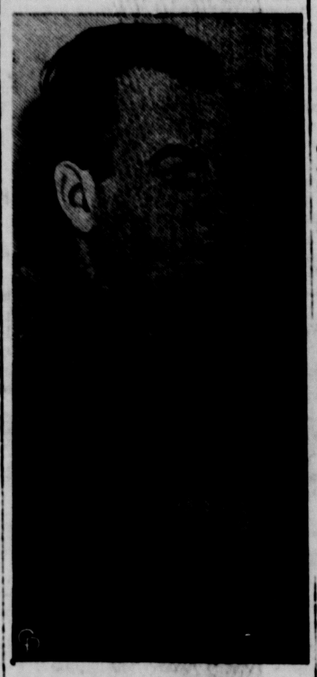

According to officials of the firm, it is thought the blaze might have been caused by a short circuit in the oven used for warming parts. The firm, which manufactured plastic parts, has been located in the mill property since 1947. Machinery was located on the first and second floors. No one was in the structure at the time the blaze started.

Loss on equipment and stock is estimated by Pearson-Berlinghof, Inc., at $10,000. Henry Pearson, Langhorne, is president of the firm; and Robert Tomlinson, Doylestown, is plant manager.

The mill is located along the Neshaminy Creek, it being at the intersection of Newtown and Bridgetown roads. It is believed to have been built about 1809, but is definitely known to have been standing in 1831. Originally a grist mill, it proved of particular value to the people of Ireland during the famine in that country, when grain ground in the mill was shipped abroad. The mill had been idle from 1927 until 1947, members of the Woodman family state, with the Pearson-Berlinghof firm occupying it three years ago.

The Woodman home and other buildings on the property were capably protected by the firemen. The large stone house is located about 100 feet from the mill.

Says Rotarians Can Lay Groundwork for Peace

Stating that local Rotary clubs have a real opportunity today to lay the groundwork for a better and more peaceful world of tomorrow, "if they practice human, kindly, sensible employee-employer relationships," Andrew Vaughn, past district governor of Rotary, spoke to members of Bristol Rotary club, yesterday. He urged local Rotarians to exert all their influence to see that vocational service is always exemplified on an upright, honest, pleasant basis, when he addressed them at the Elks' Home yesterday afternoon.

Vaughn declared that vocational service is the most important of the four services practiced by Rotary, and that in the final analysis, vocational service is business, broken up into four parts-buying, labor relations, selling and competition.

President William Begley was in charge of the meeting, with guests present from Philadelphia, Huntingdon Valley, Bensalem. A former member of the club, and now an honorary member, John S. Roberts, Jr., was also in attendance.

A PILOT SPEAKS UP

Last year was the safest in the history of American air transportation. Nevertheless nearly 100 persons lost their lives in tragically spectacular scheduled airline crashes, the worst of which occurred in clear weather practically under the nose of the Civil Aeronautics Board in the nation's capital.

The CAB has now decided that the Brazilian pilot of the fighter plane that crashed into the airliner at Washington's National Airport was at fault. The CAB has also, belatedly, banned all fighter planes from the airport.

A very articulate pilot, writing in the New York Times Magazine, says the shakedown period during which pilots and airlines have been getting used to the new and highly complicated postwar planes is about over. But he sees trouble ahead because an era is dawning when the next generation of airliners—jets and rocket jobs—will have to be ridden and broken.

The writer thinks the emphasis in government regulation must be changed. He thinks the present CAB system of pronouncing a new plane airworthy, which costs about $1,000,000 and takes one year, could better be devoted to letting airline pilots do the testing.

Speaking as a pilot he says what is needed is "simpler" planes, better vision for pilots (and less distractions), and larger airports. He thinks the CAA and the CAB should be placed under an objective, far-sighted air safety board for their own good. Because the government investigates every rivet in a plane, too often the government agency investigating a crash bumps into itself. He questions the progress to be made under a system demanding that a government board criticize itself.

Many of the ideas expressed in this go far to refute some of the apathy (crashes are the price of progress!) that has been apparent in Washington. It is a thoughtful framework for future action to make flying safer.

Pork is to be cheaper, and it is possible the average family will again be on speaking terms with an occasional chop.

Fire Police To Report All Fires That Don't Look Right

Both were fined $10 and the costs of prosecution.

Brenner, who recently attended a state convention in Lancaster, reported that Bucks county is far behind in the devastation set-up. York is one of the leading counties, and Lancaster with boys, from 13 to 18 years enrolled in BOFFS (Brotherhood of Friendly Firefighters) who serve as first aid units, including the running of messages and other details, far surpass Bucks efforts and organization.

Harold Heitz, Quakertown, charter president, will be honored at the Quakertown meeting Wednesday, May 17. President Russell Pidcock, Langhorne, named Detective William L. Stackhouse, Doylestown; Charles Roeschen, Trevose; and George Sanders, Cornwells, as members of a memorial committee.

Fire Police Marshal Leonard Roberts, Trevose, who reported that only 13 companies submitted reports of fires during the last two months, said 86½ hours were put in by 188 men on duty. He reported 65 alarms and two arrests made by Eddington fire policemen.

Midway Fire Policeman Frank H. Lake, who reported on the traffic problems in connection with the two barn fires, one at Lahaska, and the other at Holicong, praised the Doylestown sub-station State Police for their co-operation.

"The State Police backed us up and co-operated with us in controlling—practically stopping all traffic on Route 202 which is one of the most heavily travelled highways in the East—trucks and cars which would have ruined our hoses until we were able to get planks over them. The fire police got there first and the State Police asked us 'How we were doing?' and suggested that we halt it even longer if it were necessary to protect our equipment."

Detective Stackhouse briefly reminisced on the life of Rev. Oscar Meyer, Episcopal rector, who founded the Bucks County Firemen's Association in 1912, and how Southampton was his home-town fire company at that time.

President Pidcock announced that the March 15 meeting will be held at Lacey Park, May 17, at Quakertown and September 20 at Line Lexington. The annual banquet will be held Saturday, April 22, at Perkasie American Legion Home.

St. Mary's Hall

Mary's will assist the drama instructor in staging productions.

During last year's non-resident term Miss Sharp taught in a kindergarten in Cold Spring Harbor, N. Y., where she formerly resided. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Charles Renner, of Plandome.

The coeds' conference, held under the auspices of the National Preparatory School Committee at Buck Hill Falls, attracted delegates from many independent schools in the country. Among them was a group of six students from St. Mary's Hall, under leadership of Miss Florence L. Newbold, headmistress. The delegation included Suzanne Soper, Rosemont; Kay Strahle, Haddonfield, N. J.; Carol Allen, Spring City; Mary Walbridge, Great Barrington, Mass.; and Ann Porges, of the Hotel Plaza, N. Y.

The conference had as it's theme, "Not By Might Not By Power, But By My Spirit." The chief speakers were Norman J. Whitney, Syracuse (N. Y.) University and A. Grant Noble, chaplain of Williams College. There were panel discussions for both students and faculty, and question periods with Mr. Whitney.

Worst Epidemic of "Polio" Cost Much

afford and, in emergencies to supplement national epidemic aid.

The other 50 percent is sent to National Foundation headquarters to be used for research, education of professional personnel and epidemic aid to communities whose chapter treasuries become exhausted. It is this fund, he explained, which was depleted by 1949's unusually severe epidemic.

Mr. Rawak explained why costs were so high last year. "First, there were many more cases than in any other year of our history," he said. "But even more significant, these cases were spread out over every section of the country. In past years, there had been a series of sharp, concentrated outbreaks. But last year, 40 states had more cases than in 1948.

More iron lungs, more hot pack machines, more nurses, doctors and other highly-trained personnel naturally were needed. In past years, we could borrow them from areas where there were no epidemics. But in 1949, with so many areas affected, personnel and equipment were needed everywhere.

"Yet not one call for help went unanswered. If an iron lung was not available, the National Foundation bought a new one. And iron lungs cost $1,500 each, plus transportation. As of mid-October, 2,632 nurses were recruited through the American Red Cross and sent to 38 states; in addition, 160 physical therapists and 37 resident physicians were sent to critical areas—all, including the nurses, at National Foundation expense."

The 1949 epidemic really did not stop on December 31, 1949, he continued. The cost of medical care will stretch through 1950 for thousands, and even longer for some, he said.

Girl Scouts Take Part In A Sorosis Program

LANGHORNE, Jan. 20 — Girl Scouting in all its phases was honored by Langhorne Sorosis members who gathered in the Langhorne Library yesterday afternoon. Among the guests were Bucks Co. Girl Scout officials and leaders, and members of local troops.

Mrs. Horace Townsend, Sorosis president, introduced Mrs. Reese Thomas, chairman of Sorosis youth conservation committee, who is in charge of the Scouts here. Two representatives of Bucks County Girl Scout Council were present, namely Mrs. R. Rufe, Scouting commissioner, and Miss Jessie Brittingham, county Girl Scout executive.

Mrs. Rufe told of her phase in Scout work, mainly organization. She informed there are now 2,027 Girl Scouts in Bucks. Miss Brittingham spoke of the county, national and international organizations, with 30 countries having Girl Scout programs at present. She mentioned that the Scout programs are both formal and informal, the formal party being the training for leadership, learning the Scout laws and oath; while the informal portion covers the useful activities such as cooking, earning money for activities, budgeting the money earned, etc. She mentioned that the county executive works through the group leaders, advises the group, and imparts information. The Brownie age limit was listed as seven to 10 years. A question and answer period followed.

Then Girl Scouts and Brownies of Langhorne presented a program, the Brownies staging a skit. Intermediates and seniors gave a mock radio program. "Judy" Thomas served as announcer. The group presented, among other things, a tragic drama, "The Lighthouse Keeper." There are 24 Brownies, 32 intermediates, and nine seniors in Langhorne Scouting units, the club members were told.

Brownie leader is Mrs. Clement Mather; Girl Scout leaders, Mrs. Harry Feaster, Mrs. Reese Thomas, Mrs. Mary Davis, and Mrs. Louis Layton. Yesterday's program bespoke the enthusiasm of the local Scouts.

On February 2nd a covered dish luncheon will be conducted by Sorosis, with program in charge of the conservation and garden club.

Various members of the county educational staff are contributing pictures to a ten year project in building a film library to show both historic and beauty spots in the county and varied activities.

Over 200 citizens have permitted photographing of exteriors and interiors of historic homes, and of precious items still preserved. It is hoped that a booklet, "Following in Washington's Footsteps," will be available this spring. There is in preparation also a lecture, with slides, on county government.

DIFFERENT OUTSIDE - ALIKE INSIDE

By MARION CLYDE McCARROLL

HOWEVER many new designs may be developed in residential architecture, the popularity of the Colonial type house never wanes.

For while there are those who are drawn to the streamlined contemporary house that exemplifies the spirit and pace of present-day living, there are equally as many who feel that because modern life itself is so hectic, a home with the atmosphere and leisurely charm of the past is more restful.

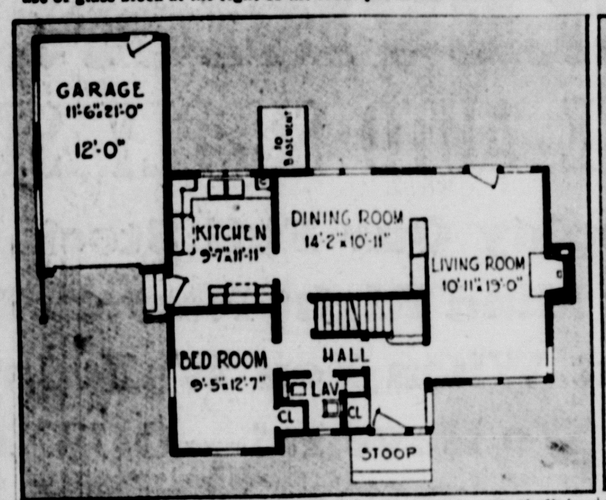

Whichever of these two groups you belong to, you will find something to interest you in the pictures which show here a contemporary exterior and a traditional one sharing the same basic floor plan.

The house in the top picture has the typical long lines characteristic of modern architectural design; the clapboard one at the bottom is unmistakably Early American.

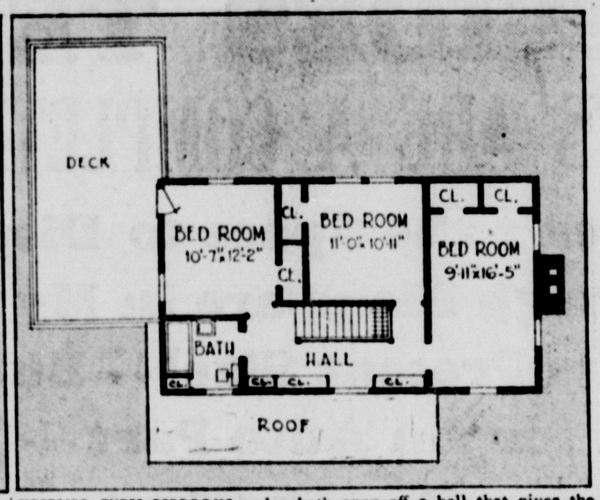

Blueprints of both houses are available at moderate cost, and the name and address where they may be purchased will be given upon request.

THE LONG, STRAIGHT LINES OF this trim two-story house, together with the use of glass block at the right of the front porch and in the center window on the second floor, are typical characteristics of contemporary architectural design. The corner window is an attractive feature.

THE LOWER FLOOR OF THE house has a living room across one end, dining room and kitchen in the rear, and a front corner bedroom. Hall lavatory.

UPSTAIRS, THREE BEDROOMS and a bath open off a hall that gives the housewife three small closets in addition to five others on the floor.

National Plan Service, Inc.

AND HERE, HOMELIKE AND HOSPITABLE-LOOKING, is a typically Colonial house, with the white clapboard exterior, gabled roof and many-paned windows that make a home designed in this period so charming. Inside, its floor plans are substantially the same as in the modern house.

PUNCHY PARAGRAPHS

Cranberry Pot-Roast

Winter's pot-roast takes on a new look with cranberries. Boil together one cup of water and two cups of cranberries until the skins pop. Pour the cranberry sauce over the browned pot-roast. Season with cloves and cinnamon. At the end of cooking time, thicken the liquid with a flour-sugar-water mixture for a spicy gravy to serve with the pot-roast.

Mincemeat Apples

Here's a clever addition to your ham or pork roast platter—mincemeat apples. Core baking apples and peel them about a third of the way down. Place the apples in a deep baking dish and fill the cavity of each with 1 tablespoon of mincemeat and ½ teaspoon of butter. Pour a sugar sirup over the apples and bake them, uncovered, in a 350 degrees F. oven for about 1 hour, basting frequently.

Sunday Night Treat

Hot sandwiches are a quick answer to your lunch or Sunday night supper problem. Here are some tempting open-faced broiler combinations: slices of American cheese spread with chili sauce and topped with half strips of bacon; applesauce, sausage links and grated cheese; liver sausage topped with chopped bacon.

Fruited Ham

Flavor combining is wise, especially when it's smoky ham and apricots. For joining these flavors, choose a ham slice about one inch thick. Place the ham on the broiler rack two inches from the heat and sprinkle with spices—allspice and cinnamon. Occasionally baste the meat with apricot juice. When brown, turn and sprinkle spices on the other side and repeat the basting process. When the ham slice is broiled, arrange apricot halves on top and return to the broiler just long enough to slightly brown the fruit.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

THE good health of any family may truly be regarded as the cornerstone of that family's happiness. This is where every housewife shines, because the food she serves each day plays a major role in keeping her family both healthy and happy. No wonder she puts so much time and energy into those meals.

With a desire to be helpful A & P Service for Homemakers suggests a hearty Meat Balls and Vegetable Casserole dish for Sunday's dinner. This easily-prepared meal will satisfy any appetite, will furnish the family with the vitamins it needs, and what is more, it will be well within the family budget.

To prepare, grind together a half pound each of beef, veal and fresh pork. Season this with one teaspoon of salt, one eighth of a teaspoon of pepper and one half of a minced small onion. Then mix with one-half cup of applesauce, one-half cup of soft bread crumbs and one egg or two egg yolks.

Shape into balls, roll in flour and brown in two tablespoons of fat. Then place in casserole. To drippings in frying pan add the following vegetables: two cups canned tomatoes, four medium-sized potatoes and one small carrot, each diced; one-half small onion, one stalk celery and one green pepper, each minced. Bring to a boil and turn out over meat balls; bake in a moderate oven about 45 minutes. When served with mashed potatoes and a green salad with Roquefort cheese, you will have more than ample for six servings.

Then to round out the meal, why not try gingerbread squares with whipped cream with a cup of steaming coffee.

President Judge Hiram H. Keller yesterday began the trial of Frank S. Derr and his mother, Louise M. Derr, Finland, who are suing Arthur L. Martin, Red Hill, Montgomery county. The defendant has also filed a counter claim.

New Chevrolet Powerglide Simple to Operate

Performance of the 1950 Chevrolet Powerglide, first automatic transmission in the low-price auto field, is illustrated by the five small pictures set over the controls. When the pointer is positioned at "Park," wheels are locked and the car cannot roll. "Neutral" is an idling position or for starting the engine. When the lever moves the pointer to "Drive," forward momentum is entirely dependent on accelerator pressure. "Low" is for emergencies, as in deep mud or snow. In addition to backing, the "Reverse" position gives quick response when conditions make necessary the "rocking" of a car by shifts from low to reverse.

RECIPES

Suggest Choosing Pork Roast With Plans For "Follow-Up" Dishes

With the abundant supply of pork on the market these days, homemakers will be wanting to check up on the economical cuts to serve their family. A pork loin roast, keeping in mind the many attractive and appetizing uses of leftover pork, is one especially wise selection, according to Reba Staggs, well known home economist.

For the finest of serving here is the approved roasting method. Place the pork roast fat side up in an open roasting pan. Allow the roast to cook slowly in a 350 degrees F. oven allowing 35 to 40 minutes per pound for a center loin roast and 45 to 50 minutes per pound for an end roast.

Turning to a second day meal making tempting use of the pork roast, the homemaker will find curried pork an unusual dish. Diced tart apple and sliced onion are cooked in hot pork drippings until they are tender. To this combination is added chopped leftover pork, gravy, lemon juice and a hint of curry powder. The mixture is allowed to thoroughly heat. For attractive serving, it is placed in a mound over fluffy white rice.

In a truly Oriental mode, homemakers may proudly serve their family leftover pork roast in Egg Foo Yung. This is a delightful combination of finely cut cooked pork, chopped onion and bean sprouts served with a tangy gravy.

Egg Foo Yung—Gravy

1 cup finely cut cooked pork
1 No. 2 can bean sprouts
½ cup chopped onion
6 eggs
½ cup lard
Gravy

Drain bean sprouts and mix with meat and onion. Beat eggs slightly and add to meat mixture. Drop by spoonfuls into hot lard in large frying-pan to make patties about 3 inches in diameter. Brown on both sides. Serve immediately on hot platter with gravy. 6 servings.

Gravy

2 cups soup or meat stock
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons soy sauce
Salt to season
Pepper to season

Thicken well flavored soup stock with cornstarch which has been mixed to a paste with the soy sauce. Cook 10 minutes. Season to taste.

Pork Calls For Prunes In This Economical Dish

Flavorful pork is often appealingly accompanied by fruit—pork and apples; pork and cranberries; pork and pineapple, and for an interesting variation here's pork joined with prunes.

For this combination, pork shoulder steaks are placed in a frying-pan and browned in hot lard. Pork steaks are an especially economical choice at this time, according to Reba Staggs, foods expert. With the steaks browned on both sides, the drippings are poured off and onion slices are placed over the steaks. Dried prunes are then arranged around the steaks.

The braising liquid is made up of lemon juice and water and seasoned with Worcestershire sauce, cloves, dry mustard and salt. This mixture is poured over the steaks and as in the usual braising process, the pan is covered and the liquid allowed to simmer—not boil—for one hour.

Pork tenderloin, ham slices and Canadian-style bacon are equally as tasty with this fruited combination.

"EVERY CHILD NEEDS A LOT OF LOVING"

WORKSHOP TALK

Dr. Bruce Robinson psychiatrist in the Mental Health Clinics of Newark (N. J.) public schools for 20 years, reminded teachers of Bucks County who gathered at Langhorne-Middletown and Sellersville-Perkasie high schools on Monday, that "Every child needs a lot of love—especially when he doesn't need it."

Dr. Robinson spoke at workshop sessions, the one at Sell-Perk in the morning, and at Langhorne in the afternoon.

Under the chairmanship of Dr. J. Edward Smith, superintendent of the Doylestown schools, a mental health panel included Dr. Robinson, Dr. Miles Garber, chief psychiatrist of the Norristown State Hospital, and Mrs. Rhesa Lundelius, social worker with the newly organized Mental Health Clinic of Bucks County, and Dr. Ruth Fedder, of the county office.

"A teacher must also like a child very much before he can help him," Dr. Robinson went on to instruct the instructors of high school youth. "One of our schools' major jobs," he reminded them, "is to help pupils with personality adjustment as well as with academic achievement!"

Dr. Miles Garber explained the clinic being organized here in Bucks, its procedures and problems in setting it up and the method of referral which, in the case of the schools, he said, is through the guidance counselors of the schools.

Mrs. Rhesa Lundelius stressed the importance of good technique in interviewing parents when they have occasion to discuss maladjustment of their youngsters with them. Warning them not to be alarmists, she reminded them not to cause the parents to think their children are headed toward a mental institution because of some needed adjustment.

Miss Gladys Fish, speech specialist from the Department of Public Education in Harrisburg, put on a demonstration with about 20 high school students from the Sell-Perk and Quakertown schools.

In this demonstration, her objective was to point out to teachers the types of speech defects which are prevalent and which can be easily detected with a little "know how."

At the same time she showed how students could be helped with many of the simpler speech problems. Miss Fish explained the development of speech from the time the child is born, with its pitfalls of pressure from parents and society in general that create these speech difficulties. "The American Indian," she added, "is the only group of people known to be completely without speech troubles, since to them speech was not of major importance and no social pressure prevailed."

Following the demonstration, the pupils were dismissed and a discussion period was conducted for about an hour, during which time Miss Fish assisted the teachers with many of their school room problems, pointing out to them that "in order to have perfect speech, one must gain control of only 43 sounds.

If Speech Develops Too Slowly

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

A FEW children who don't begin to talk as early as the average child does may be hard of hearing, may be retarded mentally or may have sustained harm to his central nervous system. But many young children who have failed to learn to talk have been hampered emotionally.

A few years ago, at the Cleveland Speech and Hearing Center of Western Reserve University an experiment was conducted, whose results have hopeful, helpful suggestions for parents. The study was made by Amy Chapin and Margaret Corcoran of that Center and reported in the Journal of Speech Correction, 1947, vol. 12, pp. 373-376.

Virtually Speechless

The sixteen children selected for the experiment were all over three years of age and all were virtually speechless. On the basis of careful testing the children all "showed evidence of normally intelligent behavior." The parents were pledged to cooperate. The assumption was that inhibitions of speech can best be released in a normal play situation, so the environment provided for these children was that of a normal nursery.

Practically all the children tended to have many fears, especially fears of other children and of competition with them. Every child in the group cried or had a temper tantrum, or in some way showed his fear and displeasure when his mother first left him in the playroom.

Fears Lessened

In this play situation fears lessened and the child gradually learned to wait on himself and to feel more independent physically and emotionally. The children were encouraged to fight back and defend their own things and themselves. Gradually they learned to share and, later, to join in some simple games by the whole group, gaining occasion to express their feelings, needs and wants in words.

By the adult leaders, these children were addressed and treated as any speaking child. Naturally speech began to be associated with all the sounds, words and sentences, with games and objects.

Though according to Gessell, children usually begin to play side by side, each in his own way but at similar activity (parallel play) at about two years of age, these children whose average age was 5.2 years had not yet developed to this stage.

Five Months

The play program with these 16 children lasted for about five months, after which 12 of them had normal speech or were considered ready to enter regular school classes.

If your child is noticeably late in developing speech have his hearing tested. Treat him as if he talked but never urge him to talk. Talk to him about what he is doing or you are doing with him or for him. Read some to him every day. Help him avoid or overcome fears. Provide him with a serene, affectionate atmosphere but help him grow less dependent on you physically and emotionally. Encourage him in creative fun. Most of all, set the stage so he will play constantly with other children of his age. If possible, enter him in a nursery school or kindergarten.

Canned Tomatoes Spice Lima Bean Casserole

CANNED tomatoes and lima beans make the two-toned color and flavor combination in this vegetable dish. By adding diced cooked ham or luncheon meat, you have a casserole main dish.

Tomatoes and tomato products such as juice, paste, purees and soup make up the number one pack of canned vegetables. The pert color and tang of this vegetable make it popular alone or in combination with bland foods. It rates for Vitamins C and A and mineral values. And when it comes to food costs, you will find that canned tomatoes are generally cheaper the year around than the fresh product.

The canned tomato and lima bean casserole is an interesting variation on the vegetable dish schedule. Accompanying dishes on this menu also call on the bountiful and varied can shelf. The soup pictured is cream of celery, and the salad is canned cling peaches filled with cottage cheese.

Canned Tomato-Lima Bean Casserole

5 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
1 No. 2 can lima beans, drained
1 cup diced ham
16 1½ inch bread rounds, or 1½ cups soft bread crumbs

Melt 3 tablespoons of the butter in a medium size saucepan. Add onion and cook until tender, but not brown. Add flour, salt and pepper. Pour in tomatoes and blend thoroughly. Cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Add lima beans and diced ham. Heat. Turn into a 1½ quart casserole. Butter bread rounds or crumbs. Place rounds or crumbs in a border around casserole. Place under broiler heat, or bake in a hot oven (425° F.) 10 minutes or until bread is lightly browned. YIELD: 6 servings.

parents in providing chaperone service at the 'teen-age canteen sponsored by the P. T. A.

Miss Helen D. Ruff, Pennsbury school nurse, requested that the $30 in the milk fund be set aside for those pupils needing milk who cannot afford to pay for it. William Holtz, chairman of the band committee, asked for 20 new band uniforms, costing about $800. The association agreed to support the project, with proceeds of the next three square dances allotted to such.

With drinking fountains reported as inadequate at Edgewood building, Raymond Wiefe, vice president, the presiding officer, announced he will name a committee to discuss the matter with school directors.

Demonstrates Principles Of Ventilating Homes

Kenneth Trostle, special representative of a Philadelphia fan company, addressed the members of the Exchange Club at their weekly meeting in the Elks' Home last evening on the subject of "Attic Ventilations for Homes."

In demonstrating the principles of ventilation by the use of a fan, a model of a modern home was used in order to show how the maximum results can be obtained under various kinds of construction.

A series of slides was shown by Earl Walton and Clark Kemble, of a Trenton, N. J., electric company, on the method of eliminating fuses by thermo protective devices in the modern home.

The program was under direction of Earl McEuen, with President Robert Hendricks presiding.

STATE PLANNING BOARD DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Pennsylvania Housing and Redevelopment Program
Official Proposal Inviting Bids For Subsidized Housing
State-Subsidized Housing Project No. 8—Bristol

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, acting through the State Planning Board of the Department of Commerce, will receive sealed bids for the construction and operation of State-subsidized Housing Project No. 8, hereinafter called the "Project," located in or near the Borough of Bristol, County of Bucks, Pennsylvania, until two o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time, on the 27th day of February, 1950, at the offices of the State Planning Board, Department of Commerce, Room 129, State Capitol, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, at which time all bids will be publicly opened and read aloud.

This Project shall consist of 22 dwelling units, with sizes as follows:

12 two-bedroom units
6 three-bedroom units

Type of Construction:

Garden type buildings, two story, masonry.

General specifications for this project may be obtained from the State Planning Board. Design, construction details and planning must conform to SPB Bulletin HB-4, "Design Requirements and Construction Standards for State Housing Program."

To facilitate architectural design a deviation of not more than one unit in total number of dwelling units as indicated above will be permitted in the Bid. Distribution by sizes as indicated above may be modified by the substitution of larger units for units having a lower number of bedrooms. Information as to site proposed by the bidder, as well as site plans, construction plans and specifications must be submitted to the Board not later than February 17, 1950. Approval of site, site plans, construction plans and specifications must be secured from the Board prior to the submission of a bid.

The bids shall be based upon the construction of the Project in accordance with the plans and specifications submitted to and approved by the Board.

Bids shall also be based upon operation and maintenance of the Project for a period of twenty-eight years, to be computed from the date of execution of the contract with the bidder, in accordance with the requirements established in SPB Bulletin HB-5, "Minimum Operation Standards for State Housing Program."

The maximum allocation of State funds available for the Project is $72,934, but the State subsidy shall not exceed 35% of the total estimated preoccupancy cost of the Project, such estimate being submitted as part of the bid, and shall in no event exceed 35% of the actual preoccupancy cost of the Project as finally ascertained by the Board.

The award will be made to the qualified bidder who stipulates the lowest average net rental per housing unit, which will result in the lowest gross cost of occupancy to the tenants, taking into consideration the functional and other factors of the project, construction and location, provided that, in the opinion of the State Planning Board, the net rentals proposed and the amount of State subsidy per housing unit required are in accord with the objections and requirements of the program. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, acting through the State Planning Board of the Department of Commerce, retains the right to reject any or all bids and to waive any of its procedural requirements. The bid accepted by the Board must be ratified by the Governor before a contract can be entered into with the successful bidder.

Bids shall be submitted on SPB Form H-7, "Housing Construction and Operation Bid" or on SPB Form H-7C, "Housing Construction and Operation Bid, (Form to be used by Housing Authorities)", and, when submitted by a private Builder-operator, must be accompanied by bid security in the sum of 3% of the amount of the total estimated preoccupancy cost, as outlined in SPB Bulletin HB-2, "Bidding and Contractural Procedures", as revised January 17, 1950. So that the Commonwealth may be assured as to the soundness of the proposed financing of the Project and the feasibility of operation under the proposed rental scale, bids shall also be accompanied by SPB Forms, H-6, "Financial Analysis of Rental Housing Projects" and H-19, "Estimated Preoccupancy Cost."

The successful bidder will be required to execute a contract with the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, acting through the State Planning Board of the Department of Commerce, containing provisions for construction and operation of the proposed project and method of payment of the grant. (Sample contracts in blank form may be obtained from the State Planning Board.)

The successful bidder (if a private Builder-operator) will, in addition, be required to form a business corporation under the laws of Pennsylvania and to furnish performance and payment bonds, on the forms provided by the Board, and in an amount equal to 10% of the estimated pre-occupancy cost of the Project, as set forth in SPB Bulletin HB-3, "Participation of Private Builder-operators in State Housing Program," as revised January 17, 1950.

Help and strengthen us, O Lord, we beseech Thee, for the race that is set before us; and may we have the mind that was in Christ, and by His strength may our feeble feet be quickened and grace given to us to run, not uncertainly, but to run so that we may obtain. We need Thy help at every cross road, that harm may not befall us; at the fork in the road, that we may make wise decisions; when the way is not clear and distinct, that we may not lose our way. So may we at the end of the road be brought into Thy presence and receive the words of commendation—"Well done, good and faithfutl servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord." To Jesus we ascribe the praise and in His precious name we pray. Amen.

BRISTOL HIGH TO MEET PALMYRA TEAMS IN VARSITY AND JR. VARSITY GAMES ON HIGH SCHOOL FLOOR TONIGHT

Bristol High will be host to Palmyra High tonight in varsity and junior varsity games. Opening tap-off will take place at 7.30 o'clock with the main affair starting at nine o'clock. Between games, the student body athletic association will receive the key to the newly-installed telescopic bleachers.

The "Pals" come to Bristol with six victories and two defeats. They have beaten Lower Regional, Camden Vocational, Alumni, Audubon, Riverside, and Burlington, and lost to Mt. Holly and Burlington. Last Tuesday, the Palmyra team avenged an early season defeat with a 42-37 win over Burlington.

The Jersey team is coached by Jack McClellan, a graduate of Shippensburg State Teacher College. McClellan was picked on the first team of the All-State Teachers College for two successive years. This is his first year of coaching.

Coach McClellan had to build his Palmyra team for the only letterman back from the 1948-49 season was Jack Ferran. However, the former Shippensburg Star has moulded a fine aggregation around Ferran with the remainder of the squad being made up of "Mike" DeVece, Richard Little, Robert Foulke, William Dinn, William Gamble, Oliver Neble, Lawrence Pratt, Eddie Grimes, Marter Carhart, Raymond Jenkins, and Ted Cannon.

Bristol's record to date is five wins and three losses. The Warriors' three-game winning streak was halted by Trenton Catholic Tuesday night. The Bristol team was at its best in the first half of the Catholic game but fell apart in the second half to enable the Trenton team to win easily.

Coach Jerry Bloom was a bit dismayed at his boys' downfall after garnering an early 14-5 lead but feels confident that they will hit their stride against Palmyra.

Coach Bloom is undecided as to whom his starting quintet will be but the following are almost certain to see action: Joe Pindar, William Condit, Frank Rich, Frank Barbetta, Victor Cauti, Howard Grant, Marty Braam, and Charles Rauch.

Coach Harry McClister's Jayvees will go after their seventh win of the season against the Palmyra JV's. Coach McClister's team was no match for the Catholic Jayvees on Tuesday night. But the latter array seemed to be able to pass and shoot in the manner of many varsity teams of this section.

McClister will have in his starting lineup: "Charlie" Brady, Frank Lucent, "Jim" Gallagher, Andy Accardi, and Walt Holden.

Sportsmens' Briefs

Meeting . . . next Tuesday, January 24, the first meeting of the current year will be held by the Edgely Rod & Gun Club when members gather in the meeting room of the Edgely Community Center at 8 p. m. Projects for 1950 will be discussed, and all members are urged to be present. Interested non-member sportsmen have a cordial invitation to attend the meeting.

About hares . . . field reports indicate that Pennsylvania's 1950 snowshoe rabbit (hare) season, which ended January 2, was about as successful as that of 1949. Luck varied from fair to excellent, dependent on the locality hunted, but with the ground generally bare, hunting conditions were not as favorable as they were last year.

Hares are non-existent, or practically so, in most of the southern tier counties, but snowshoe rabbit hunting in the northern counties of the Commonwealth increases in popularity each year.

For archers . . . from Don Finch, one of the leaders of the Penn Oak Bowman, Bucks County's best organized archery group, comes announcement of a field shoot to be held February 5th (rain date is February 12th). To reach the course take route 413 to Wrightstown and watch for field targets and follow arrows.

Injuries and deaths . . . Game Commission reports have blasted the hope that 1949 would show fewer hunting fatalities and injuries in this State than did 1948.

As nearly as can be learned until all "accident" reports are filed with the Commission, 23 persons died and 408 were injured by hunters' gunfire in the year just ended. In 1948, 22 were killed and 418 were injured in like manner.

This fact, surprising to many, stands out as it has in "doe seasons" in the past; the 1949 antlerless deer season, in spite of concentration of hunters, did not result in great human toll. One hunter was killed and 9 were injured by hunters' gunfire on December 10, Pennsylvania's "doe day."

Surprising, too, are these figures: In the 1949 bear and deer seasons combined, 6 persons were killed and 52 were injured, while woodchuck hunters alone killed 4 persons and injured 24 others in 1949.

Best method . . . speaking from many years of experience in the national field of conservation, Dr. Ira Gabrielson, president of the Wildlife Institute, said: "By development of new environment, more game and fish can be produced each year at less cost than by any other method yet found."

Challenge . . . Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, ace aviator for the United States in World War I., and now president and general manager of an airline, recommends a creed and a course of action for American sportsmen.

An experienced hunter himself, Captain Rickenbacker became aroused at the game situation in this country and at the apathy of the hunters, who could better conditions.

He recently received a magazine's award for an outstanding contribution to wildlife conservation. His recommendations to sportsmen follow: (1) Teach beginners their obligations, as well as their pleasures afield. (2) Demand sound conservation legislation. (3) Devote as much effort to improving habitat as you do to harvesting game. (4) Actively work to improve farmer-sportsman cooperation. (5) Become an active and constructive member of a sportsmen's club. (6) Game law violators are thieves. Treat them accordingly. (7) Let maximum sport (enjoyment) rather than the kill, be your guide.

STUCK MOTORISTS

AKRON, O.—(INS)—Two million American motorists will get stuck in snow or mud this winter and next spring, predicts the B. F. Goodrich Company, despite the increasingly widespread mud-snow treads with traction buttons.

JUNIOR HIGH WINS ITS SIXTH STRAIGHT GAME

Bristol Junior High won its sixth straight game of the campaign on the high school floor yesterday afternoon, downing Langhorne Junior High, 45-35, in a Lower Bucks J. H. League.

Coach Ben Watson's team had plenty of trouble with the Langhorne lads and it wasn't until the third quarter that the Junior Warriors found the range of the nets enough to take a lead.

Langhorne had a one-point lead in the first quarters, thanks to some good shooting by Hoffman and Peal which gave them a 7-6 edge. At the intermission, Coach "Jim" Egli's lads were still ahead, 16-12 with Brodie stepping in the picture to score six points.

The third session saw the Watson-coached team jump into the front. "Howie" Loud and "Jack" Bowe paced this attack with six and four points, respectively. Marshall scored eight of Bristol's 18 points in the last session.
